

ABSTRACT

An optical communication switch operative in a communication network which is adapted to enable protection of a segment, or a number of segments, along an optical path in the communication network.

09885093 062101
"01290" 86058860